Date :2009-10-1. From walking to sailing, sailing to and from space, the history of human progress and take-off can be summarized as the compass to the history of the development of global positioning system . Compass is to allow travelers to better maintain their own way forward, not to force travelers walked towards the south. Medical guidelines have gone through years of vicissitudes, like the compass changes to the global positioning system. Long-term practice of individual doctors experience summarized clinical experience, evidence of meta-analysis of clinical trials integrate clinical experts reached a consensus, and further the formation of clinical guidelines. Modern clinical guidelines from evidence-based medicine, reflecting the authority of academic institutions, clinical evidence-based medical practice. Its clinical trials to obtain sufficient evidence and information for the modern scientific system of assessment and summary. However, clinical guidelines are not law, the purpose of clinical guidelines is to introduce more scientific and standardized clinicians engaged in clinical treatment practices, do not insist guide clinicians copy everything, everything dogmatic practice. Guide as a...
