Excerpt: . any desire on the part of the great Pioteetor to deprive him of his liberty. It was this faithful Churchman who composed the form of prayer used on the 29th of May, in commemoration of the happy restoration of royalty to these realms. He is also remembered as having built the chapel of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge, of which his nephew, Christopher, was the architect. Young Wren, the future architect of St. Paul s, was a delicate infant; his first education was therefore conducted at home. He was afterwards sent to Westminster School, then presided over by the celebrated Dr. Busby. From Westminster school he went to Wadham College, Oxford. This was in his fourteenth year; but long before he arrived at this age the extraordinary intellectual powers of Wren were the subject of remark and astonishment to all his acquaintances; in fact, the...
