Reviews

Great electronic book and useful one. It can be written in straightforward terms rather than difficult to understand. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Not illustrated. 1887 Excerpt: .which is the elevation of the spheroid, and makes 45 with X Y. The flan of the axis of the cylinder is distant from the centre of the circle which is the plan of the spheroid, and makes 30 tvith X Y. To draw the projections of the intersection of these two solids. The ellipse which is the horizontal trace of the cylinder may be determined as in Problem 112, p. 47. Pig. 155. Take any circular section, a b, a bf, of the spheroid, and imagine a line to move so as to always meet this circle and be parallel to the axis m n, m n of the given cylinder. This moving line will describe the surface of a cylinder every horizontal section of which will be a circle equal to a b, a V. G2 The axis h o, h o of this auxiliary cylinder will be parallel to m n, raW, and a circle with the horizontal trace of h o, h d for centre and a diameter equal to that of a b, a V will be the horizontal trace of this cylinder. The points r and s in which the horizontal trace of the auxiliary cylinder meet the horizontal trace of the givon cylinder are evidently the horizontal traces of the lines of intersection of these two cylinders. The plans p r and q s of these lines will be parallel to m n, and their elevations pW and gV...
